Tales of a Simple Sailor: My (Essentially) True Maritime Misadventures Don Robison

If James Herriot were a sailor, these are the stories he might tell. Author Don Robison is a retired U.S. Coast Guard officer and life-long sailboat sailor. These tales faithfully recount his funny, awkward, and sometimes life-changing experiences as a cutterman and as a sailboat skipper. His self-deprecating humor is engaging, and if you are honest, you may see a bit of yourself in his misadventures. Don transparently laughs at his own weakness and invites us all to laugh at ours. Take in your lines and come enjoy the life and times of a simple sailor.

Henry Perry:

As a scholar exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library in order to make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's heart or real their interest. They just do what the instructor want, like asked to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading seriously. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring along with can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we wish. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country.
