Scrum can be used in all kinds of software development: for developing complete software packages, for developing only some parts of bigger systems, for customer or internal projects. The Scrum Framework implements the cornerstones defined by the agile manifesto: ?

Individuals and interactions over processes and tools ?
Working software over comprehensive documentation ?
Customer collaboration over contract negotiation ?
Responding to change over following a plan

The Scrum Framework itself is very simple. It defines only some general guidelines with only a few rules, roles, artifacts and events. Nevertheless each of these components is important, serves a specific purpose and is essential for a successful usage of the framework.
